Foreign Military Sales Cases

- Defined Order
- Blanket Order
- Cooperative Logistics Supply Support Arrangements

Defined Order

- Defense articles/services/training specified
- LOA data analysis normally conducted
- Requisitions are prepared by DOD component

Defined Order Cases Are Normally for:

- Significant Military Equipment (SME) including MDE
  - Tanks, Ships, Aircraft, Missiles, etc.
- Munitions, Ammunitions, Explosives
- Specific Services
  - Transportation, Aircraft Ferry, etc.
- Technical Data Packages (TDP)

Blanket Order

- Covers specific category of material or services (including training) with NO listing of items or quantities
- LOA data analysis NOT conducted
- Requisitions are prepared by purchaser

Blanket Order Cases Are Normally for:

- Spares/Repair Parts (not initial/concurrent)
- Publications
- Support Equipment (minor)
- Minor Modifications/Alterations
- Technical Assistance Services
- Training
- Training Aids
- Reparables

Blanket Order Compared to Defined Order

- Reduces administrative processing time
- Simplify procedures
- More flexibility for purchaser
- Purchaser submits requisitions until case funds are exhausted

Defined or Blanket Orders

- In either instance, item is issued from stock only if inventory is above the reorder (control) level. Normally, purchaser is procurement lead time away for availability

- Emergency support only if it does not adversely affect U.S. readiness.

Cooperative Logistics

Supply

Support Arrangements

- Preferred method for many purchasers for follow-on support for spares/repair parts
- Only time DOD can buy stock in anticipation of demands
- Purchaser receives treatment similar to U.S. and other FMS purchaser activities with equal supply priorities
